

Asian Journal of Organic & Medicinal Chemistry includes communications, full papers (articles), short papers, green chemistry, reviews, and perspectives. Specifically, these include synthesis, synthetic methods and reagents, mechanism of reactions, biologically active compounds with their possible mechanism of action, natural products, in vitro and in vivo tests of compounds, computational chemistry, physical-analytical-inorganic chemistry, nanotechnology, drug carriers, proteomics and genomics. Rapid synthesis of new compounds following eco-friendly methods and their functions as medicinally active agents is certainly the central part of chemical and medicinal research in modern times. On the basis of this fact, significant emphasis is placed to rapid publication and disseminates original discoveries in this new journal.

Dr. Bimal K. Banik will be awarded the Life Time Achievement Award of Indian Chemical Society on December 28, 2018 at the Annual Convention of Chemists to be held in Bhagalpur. To pay respect and congratulate Dr. Bimal K. Banik, we intend to publish the special issue in his honor.

Contributing papers are solicited in the following areas:

- Organic and Medicinal Chemistry,
- Anticancer Agents,
- Antibiotics,
- Microwave-Induced Science
- Catalysis

Manuscript Submission

To be considered for this issue, new and previously unpublished results significant to the development of this field should be presented. The manuscripts must be submitted via the online submission system by 10th March, 2018. Manuscripts submitted after this deadline will not be considered for the issue due to time constraints on the review process. Please mention "Special issue" before the manuscript title.

Note our manuscript submission minimum length of 3000 words, excluding figures, captions, and references. Review articles may be longer but must be pre-approved by proposal to the Guest Editors. The author instructions may be found at <http://ajomc.asianpubs.org/Pages/instruction-for-authors.aspx>. All manuscripts will be reviewed in a normal but expedited fashion.
